St. Philip Neri Church

6500 Kawanee Avenue
Metairie, Louisiana

Enhancing our Place of Worship: We invite you to help us to have fresh flowers each weekend in church. A donation could be made in memory of a loved one, or in honor of someone marking a special occasion in life, like birthdays, weddings or marriage anniversaries. Because flowers are costly, you may wish to share the expense with another family, on a particular weekend. The ideal would be to have two flower arrangements and these would be placed near the altar area in church. The gift of flowers will be acknowledged in the Parish Bulletin on that weekend. For more information, please contact Yvette at the Church Office.

Request for Liturgical Ministers: Our Community is in significant need of Liturgical Ministers. If you are not already one, we earnestly ask you to consider serving our parishioners as an Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion, a Minister of Hospitality (Usher), or as a Lector. Persons who serve as Extraordinary Ministers of Holy Communion and Lectors are required to attend an Archdiocesan Workshop. Following attendance at the Archdiocesan workshop, Fr. Harry will train and fill you in our routine here at St. Philip Neri. To become a Liturgical Minister, please fill out the Recruitment of Liturgical Ministers form on the table by the church entrance and return it to the Church Office by Monday, October 10, 2011.

CONGRATULATIONS!!!

To...Gregory Brousse and Kevin Mc Cabe upon earning the highest honor of the Boy Scouts of America—the rank of Eagle Scout. Much hard work and years of dedication have gone into this accomplishment. Best wishes for your continued success.

A Gala to Benefit the Family of Jeff Bordelon: In late December 2007, Jeff Bordelon entered East Jefferson Hospital for surgery to remove a tumor that was found during a routine colonoscopy. Unexpectedly, the surgery revealed a much more serious situation and Jeff was diagnosed with stage 3B colon cancer. For three and a half years Jeff waged a heroic battle with his cancer, which included two surgeries, radiation and 18 months of chemotherapy. After a lengthy hospitalization, at the age of 52, Jeff died on May 24th survived by his wife Tina and seven children. Close friends and family along with the Friends in Need Foundation are sponsoring this benefit in order to help Jeff's family manage some huge expenses. This benefit will be on Friday, October 14th at Generations Hall—310 Andrew Higgins Dr. (New Orleans-near the World War II Museum) from 7:00—11:00 pm. The evening includes live music by West End, open bar, buffet, live auctions and raffle. Tickets, $50 per person, may be purchased by check payable to: Friends in Need Foundation, P.O. Box 56475, Metairie, LA 70055 or online at www.finfoundation.org or at the door. Jeff and his family were parishioners here at St. Philip Neri and their older children attended our School.

UNTIL THE FAT LADY SINGS

You know the line about opera: "It ain't over till the fat lady sings." The same is true about Sunday Mass. And no, the "fat lady" is not the cantor. She's us—all of us—the church! Sated (miraculously with just a morsel and a sip), stuffed on grace, a bit tired from sincere thanksgiving and sustained praise, the assembly has to finish this liturgy before it's over. Would the cast leave before the final curtain? The orchestra before the finale? The team before the final buzzer or last out? At Mass, we are all the cast, all the orchestra, all the team.

The end of Mass comes quickly: After the silent reverie that follows communion, there is a prayer and maybe a hymn. Some announcements follow, then a blessing and dismissal, perhaps a final song. So it is really asking too much of each other to see it through to the very end? Sure, you might be blocking in someone's car in the parking lot. But if we all stay till the end, what difference does it make? Of course the little ones are antsy; we all are at this point. A few minutes more won't hurt. (Nor will cries and squirming now.) And yes, not slipping out early means rubbing elbows with everyone, people jamming up at the doors and a procession of cars crawling out of the parking lot, but isn't this a consequence of the communion that we just shared? Isn't this how we know that we are becoming what we have shared: the body of Christ, risen from the dead, going out into the world to give to others what has been given to us?

It's a simple act of kindness—finishing the liturgy before leaving. And if we slow down just enough to finish our liturgy, maybe we'll slowly learn to finish well other things in life, too. And when we learn to relish and not rush the end of things—the last minutes of a movie, the final words of a conversation, the last hand of cards and the final set of pins to knock down—what we are truly learning is to relish and not rush the end of our days—a final act of gratitude that gives God praise.

“I Look Forward to the Resurrection”

Kristopher W. Seaman

“As we pray the Nicene Creed during Mass, we state, “I look forward to the resurrection of the dead.” This Creed, written in the fourth century, is our basic statement of faith. We have an opportunity with the revised translation of The Roman Missal to ponder again what the words we proclaim every Sunday tells us about our faith and what we believe.

It may seem strange to us that one should “look forward to” any aspect of death. The phrase does not mention only death, but Resurrection. The words of the Creed suggest that we should have hope in the Resurrection of the dead.

In our colloquial speech we often hear expressions that it is God’s will that he takes life in death. When my grandfather died, about 80 percent of the people at his vigil said one of two things: 1) God must need him in heaven or 2) it is God’s will. Neither of those statements comforted me. Rather, they made me angry. Granted, I realized later that we really don’t have—colloquially—adequate words in the mystery of death. That day I asked, “Why would God want death?” “Isn’t God the Creator, the one who wants life?” Sin, death, inequity are not what God wants for human persons. God wants for us life, equity, and our participation in his very life (the opposite of sin which breaks down our communion with God). Jesus’ own death by humans was not the end. Rather, God exulted him, resurrected him. Death would not be the end, but rather the mystery of God’s gift of Resurrection.

The same holds true for us. In the accounts of the Gospel, Christ gave us hope that death would not be the end, but rather God will resurrect us, raise us up at the end times. This is, indeed, a reason for hope, a reason to “look forward to the resurrection of the dead.” Notice the words “the dead.” It is not “a dead person.” Christ will resurrect not one person, but will resurrect human persons which we know as the final judgment. Through Baptism, we entered into the communion of the Church and participation in God’s life. The communion of the Church spans time, space, and history. Baptism, this communion with the Church and with God, incorporates us with those who have gone before us throughout history and those who will be baptized that have not yet been born. Communion with God and the Church is not broken in death. Rather, throughout all of life, death, and the final Resurrection of the dead, the baptized are in communion with God and the Church. At the Resurrection of the dead, our whole beings—mind, body, and spirit—will be resurrected in order to be in total communion with God and the Church. As long as sin infects human persons, total communion cannot be possible for us with God. Sin breaks down communion. This is why we “look forward to the resurrection of the dead.” We, with hope in our good and loving God, will join the communion of saints and be in total communion with God’s very self.”
