Thirty– Second Sunday In Ordinary Time - 6 November 2011

---

Enhancing our Place of Worship: We invite you to help us to have fresh flowers each weekend in church. A donation could be made in memory of a loved one, or in honor of someone marking a special occasion in life, like birthdays, weddings or marriage anniversaries. Because flowers are costly, you may wish to share the expense with another family, on a particular weekend. The ideal would be to have two flower arrangements and these would be placed near the altar area in church. The gift of flowers will be acknowledged in the Parish Bulletin on that weekend. For more information, please contact Yvette at the Church Office.

VETERANS DAY—11 November 2011

Let us remember in our prayers.... The Veterans who have served our country and the men and women of our armed forces presently serving our country.

Special Memorial Mass: November being the month when we particularly remember our deceased loved ones, a special Memorial Mass is planned to commemorate all those who have died during this past year. While everyone is invited and encouraged to attend to show your support, a special invitation is issued to those families whose loved ones died during this past year. This will be on Wednesday, November 9th at 7:00 pm. The Mass will include a ceremony where all the names of the deceased will be named and each family will be invited to light a candle in their honor. Those of you, whose loved one's Funeral did not take place at St. Philip Neri, are most welcome to participate. Please call the Church Office (887-5535).

2012 MASS BOOK OPENS....

Wednesday, November 9, 2011

On Wednesday, November 9, 2011, Mass Intention Requests will be accepted for 2012. Please come to Meeting Room 1 of the Parishioners' Center between 10 AM and 12 NOON to fill out a Mass Intention Request Form. Intentions will be assigned in the order in which they are received. For those who are unable to come on that date, you may mail your requests to the Church Office. Intentions can not be accepted prior to November 9th, 2011 when the Book officially opens.

Please note: Due to the overwhelming response:

- (One) 8AM Mass per month may be requested.
- 6 PM Sunday—Not Available (Intention is for all Parishioners of SPN).
- Limit of (One) 9 AM Weekday Mass per month, (Limit Twelve per year).
- No Limit (Multi-Intention Masses: 4PM Sat., or 9:30AM or 11AM on Sun..)

SUNDAY FAMILY GATHERING – November 6, 2011

The Parishioners of St. Philip Neri Catholic Church are invited to enjoy coffee and doughnuts, immediately following the 8:00 AM and 9:30 AM Masses, in the Multi-Purpose Room of Parishioners' Center.

Host: "Pastoral Council Ministry"

The council meets once a month to offer suggestions about improvements to the social, religious, and educational life of St. Philip Neri parish. We are asked by the pastor to give him feedback on issues or projects vital to the parish. The council provides leadership or assistance to several of those projects. It is a consultative body for the pastor and a representative body for the parishioners. The council consists of six elected and five appointed members. One of the appointments is reserved for a youth representative. Elections are held annually in December.

St. Philip Neri needs YOU!

Please consider giving some of your talent and time to serve on the St. Philip Neri Pastoral Council. The Council is made up of 11 lay members, 6 elected and 5 appointed, to assist our pastor in an advisory capacity and to represent our parish body as a whole. At the present time the council meets 8-10 times a year. If you would like to run for election, or, if you wish to SUBMIT A NAME for nomination, please call the Church Office no later than NOV. 13. The only qualifications are that the candidate be at least 21 years old, a baptized and confirmed member of our Parish and, be in good standing with the Church. It is also recommended that the candidate be involved in some form of ministry at St. Philip's, whether that be liturgical, school or parish community related. The ELECTION will be held on the weekend of DEC. 10 and 11, 2011.

“For Many”

Daniel Merz, SLL

“In the previous translation of The Roman Missal, the Eucharistic Prayer proceeds as follows: Take this, all of you, and drink from it: / this is the cup of my blood, / the blood of the new and everlasting covenant. / It will be shed for you and for all / so that sins may be forgiven.

In the revised translation of The Roman Missal, the words “for all” have been changed—as directed by Pope Benedict XVI. With the revised translation, the priest will pray: Take this, all of you, and drink from it, / for this is the chalice of my Blood, / the Blood of the new and eternal covenant, / which will be poured out for you and for many / for the forgiveness of sins.

Although this change may seem surprising at first, the Holy Father has expressed strong and sound reasons for this change.

1. The synoptic accounts of the Gospel (Matthew 26:28; Mark 14:24) make specific reference to the “many” for whom the Lord is offering the sacrifice, and some biblical scholars have emphasized this particular wording as a connection with the words of the prophet Isaiah (53:11–12). It would have been entirely possible in the Gospel texts to have said “for all”; instead, the formula given in the institution narrative is “for many,” and the words have been faithfully translated thus in most modern versions of the Bible.

2. The Roman Rite in Latin has always said pro multis (“for many”) and never pro omnibus (“for all”) at the consecration of the chalice.

3. The anaphoras (Eucharistic Prayers) of the various Oriental rites, whether in Greek, Syriac, Armenian, various Slavic languages, etc., employ the verbal equivalent of the Latin pro multis in their respective languages.

4. “For many” is a faithful translation of pro multis, whereas “for all” is rather an explanation that belongs properly to catechesis.

5. The formula “for all” certainly corresponds to a correct interpretation of the Lord’s intention expressed in the scriptures. Even more, it is a dogma of faith that Christ died on the Cross for all men and women (see John 11:52; 2 Corinthians 5:14–15; Titus 2:11; 1 John 2:2). However, the expression “for many” is scriptural, historical, and ecumenical, and has a solid theological interpretation: “for many” is a reminder that, while salvation is offered to all, there are some who do not accept it. Salvation is not imposed in a mechanical way, against one’s free will or voluntary participation. It is freely offered to all to accept in faith, and many do indeed accept it. Some do not. As for those who apparently reject the gift, the Church entrusts them to the mercy of God. But in doing so they place themselves outside the Church’s liturgical offering. Christ’s death on the Cross was certainly intended for all, but it can only help those who respond to it freely and willingly. The holy sacrifice of the Mass may well be offered or intended for all, but it can be fruitful only for those who accept it. The Eucharistic Prayer thus refers to those who accept it, in whatever form that acceptance takes.

6. Lastly, in line with the Instruction Liturgiam authenticam (the document issued in 2001 by the Congregation for Divine Worship and the Discipline of the Sacraments to regulate liturgical translations), translations should be more faithful to the actual prayer of the Church—the Latin text as given, and not as interpreted. It is intended and understood that further catechesis will explain that God our savior, “wills everyone to be saved and to come to knowledge of the truth” (1 Timothy 2:4, NRSV).

Given the reasons above, the hope of the Church is that when the faithful hear the words over the chalice “for many,” they will be inspired to make a personal affirmation of their faith in—and desire for—the gift of salvation freely offered in Christ Jesus to the whole world.”
